KEY

I have attempted to copy down and record in this report, everything I could read on each and every stone.

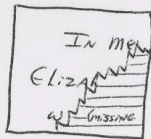

= a stone which either is too worn to be read, or a stone which has been knocked over and is lying face down deep into the soil.

= a stone which only certain words are readable (to me at least)

= smaller stones

= Broken stone, piece missing

The following is a record of the grave stones and their inscriptions from the Pearson family grave yard, later to be a part of the property owned by Pearson Memorial United Methodist Church. At the time of this writing, it is proposed that these stones be picked up and stored in the building of Pearson Memorial Church. (D.R. 4/14/78)
